

Common Ground: English in the Workplace Train the Trainer

Common Ground: English in the Workplace is designed to support Alberta workplaces in setting up and delivering their own English in the Workplace program customized to the needs of the company.

In May and June of 2010, the Centre for Excellence in Intercultural Education (NorQuest College) will facilitate a 1 day (or 2 half day) Train-the-Trainer workshop for Alberta employers requiring language and workplace integration support for immigrant employees. The primary target group for the Train-the-Trainer workshops will be small and medium sized business employers in rural and urban centers in Alberta. A second target group will be ESL providers and organizations that support community learning (e.g. Rotary Clubs, Chambers of Commerce, CALC).

The workshops will be held in rural, small and large urban centers across Alberta and will be coordinated and promoted in partnership with ESL providers and businesses.

The objective for this project is to develop the capacity of interested Alberta businesses and ESL educators in rural and urban centers to deliver the Common Ground: English in the Workplace materials to their immigrant employees.
